A verdict of murder and suicide was returned late Thursday, March 9, in the deaths of Rufus Wayne Osborn, 43, and his 3-year-old daughter, Wanda.

The jewelry repairman and the girl wee found March 8 in Osborn's car in a Longview parking lot.

An autopsy report from Austin revealed both died from cyanide poisoning. Justice of the Peace, W. Mack Harriison, of Longview, returned the inquest verdict.

A Gregg County health officer esticated that the pair had been dead six or seven hours when officers found their bodies.

Osborn who had been working in Houston, and his wife were estranged and a divorce would have been final in a few days.

Mrs. Osborn said the father came by for the little girl Tuesday afternoon to take her shopping for Easter clothes. They never returned.

Funeral services for the girl were held in Longview and for the father in Comanche.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS PROCLAMATION

Next week, March 19-24, the CAMP FIRE GIRLS celebrate their FIFTIETH YEAR OF SERVICE to the young girls of Comanche.

To each of the BLUE BIRDS and CAMP FIRE GIRLS in Comanche, and throughout the Nation—a salute to you, and to the resourceful men and women who are your adult leaders and councilmen.

We realize the value of this fine organization, and the success in helping each other, our community, and our nation as a whole.

I, therefore, in my capacity as Mayor of the City of Comanche, extend congratulations to this worthy movement, and proclaim MARCH 19-24, as CAMP FIRE GIRLS WEEK in Comanche.

PEANUT SUPPORT PRICE GETS $29 PER TON BOOST

The 1961 peanut support price of 85 percent of parity has been raised to $221 per ton, an increase of some $29 over the price paid for the 1960 crop—which will mean approximately an extra $500,000 to Comanche County peanut grows this year.

A telegram from Congressman Omar Burleson, announcing this 1961 peanut support price action follows:

The Comanche Chief,
Comanche, Texas.

New price support for peanuts has just been set at $221.00 per ton. The $9.00 differential also was removed. The new support price raises from $201.24 plus, around $29 per ton increase. This is by far largest increase of any farm commodity.

Omar Burleson,
Member of Congress.

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman explains that the price support as announced of $221 per ton reflects an increase of $20 per ton over last year's price of $201. However, he continues, "The 1960 price of $201 was a gross figure since the Commodity Credit Corporation deducted $9.00 per ton for storage and carrying costs, and the figure of $221 for this year will be net to growers so that actually, growers will realize a $29 per ton increase this year."

This price increase amounts to 44c per bushel, and is a substantial rise.

Comanche County, with over 50,000 acres alloted to peanuts, has the greatest acreage of any county in the nation.

April 4 is the final date for releasing peanut allotments. "It is important that the full allowable of peanut acreage be planted this year," say local peanutmen, who ask the cooperation of farmers who do not intend to plant their full quota in peanuts this year, to turn back this excess acreage to the County ASC office, so that a neighbor can get the extra acres.

This week is being observed as National Peanut Week. Pat Cagle, president of the Durham Peanut Company, Comanche, one of the nation's largest shelling plants, made an interesting talk at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday night, explaining the new effects on the price support of Comanche County's Number 1 cash money crops, as well as the importance of peanuts to the economy of the area.

In connection to this a colored movie, "The Peanut Story" traced the history of peanuts from the early planting stage, through the growth, harvesting, marketing, shelling, and processing periods.

The special United State Senatorial election set for April 4 to select some man or woman to take the place of William A. (Bill) Blakley, serving by appointment of Governor Price Daniel to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lyndon B. Johnson, until a special election could be held, has drawn 71 candidates including Blakley, but to date has aroused but little interest.

• •

This is a free-for-all election in which the rich as well as the poor, the known and the unknown, had the privilege of making the race.

• •

The only cost to a prospective candidate was to meet the qualifications and pay a filing fee of $50. Candidates were not required to say to what political party, if any, they belonged to.

• •

Some criticism has been made of this election and some have gone so far as to suggest a law calling for a filing fee of $1,500 for anyone in the future who wishes to run for such an office under similar circumstances.

• •

We rather like this democratic method which gives a chance to everybody who has the ambition to run, if he chooses, although he may have little money nor any political organization or clique backing him.

• •

Two of the announced candidates already have withdrawn, and at least 60 of the others know they have little, or no opportunity of being elected.

• •

But if they live long enough they can boast to their grandchildren that they were once candidates for the U. S. Senate.

• •

Some people are suspicious of the large number of candidates and say that they believe it was a political trick by some politicians to confuse the voters for the benefit of the "known" candidates.

• •

We discredit this, however, and believe that most of the lesser candidates either announced for business advertisement of themselves or of the firms with which they are connected; or what is more likely, "just for the thrill of running."

• •

To be eligible for the United States Senate a person must be at least 30 years of age, a citizen of the United States for at least 9 years, and a resident of the State from which he is chosen.

• •

Each State has two senators. The one who has been in the Senate the longest is called the "Senior Senator" and the other is called the "Junior Senator." This prefix does not in any way indicate the ability of the one over the other, although the longer a man or woman has been in the Senate, the more important committees he will be the member of.

• •

Salary of a Senator is only $22,500 per year plus certain other allowances for expenses, travel, etc.

• •

The United States now has 100 Senators, 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans.

• •

The term of a U.S. Senator is six years and his term begins and ends of January 3.

• •

The term of office for which the candidates are now running will end on January 3, 1967.

Texas Senior Senator Ralph Yarborough's term will end January 3, 1965, which means if he seeks re-election he will have to run again in 1964.

• •

Some of the daily newspapers are calling some of the better known candidates, who are considered to have some chance to get into the run-off, "The Big Six."

• •

The Big Six, named alphabetically, so as not to indicate the strength of one over the other, follows: William A. (Bill) Blakley of Dallas County, Henry B. Gonzalez of Bexar County, Maury Maverick of Bexar County, John G. Tower of Wichita County, Will Wilson of Dallas County, and Jim Wright of Tarrant County.

• •

The only man to withdraw from the race before most of the the ballots were printed was J. G. (Gordon) Barker, 59, independent oil man, Route 3, Box 383, Marshall, Harrison County. His $50 was returned and his name is not on the ballot.

• •

On Friday, March 10, George Red, 57, a Houston attorney at law, 1513 Travis Street, asked that Secretary of State Frank P. Lane, take his name off the ballot. Lane told the 254 county clerks in the State to comply, unless the ballots had already been printed.

• •

Most of the 70 remaining candidates are from the larger cities, 12 of whom are from Houston or Harris County. There are 5 from Bexar County, of which San Antonio is the county seat. Dallas County has 6 candidates. There are 5 candidates from Travis County of which Austin is the county seat; and Tarrant County (Fort Worth) has 3.

• •

The only candidate who gave a rural route as his address is George Noyes, 48, retired Air Serviceman, Route 4, McKinney.

• •

The only towns as small or smaller than Comanche having candidates are Normandy, Maverick County; Elsa, Hidalgo County; Kemah, Galveston County; Prairie View, Hempstead County; Lake Dallas, Denton County; Runge, Karnes County, and Normangee, Leon County.

• •

Most of the candidates not in the Big Six, have interesting backgrounds and might make good senators, but most of them are known only in their own areas.

• •

One of the best known of these is State Representative Wesley Roberts, 35, of Seminole, Gaines County, who is now serving his third term as a State Representative in the Texas Legislature. He is making an active campaign. Roberts is a former Seminole football and basketball star who later attended Baylor University, where he was an all-conference football player.

• •

Another well qualified, but little known candidate is Hugh O. Lea, 34, of Orange. He is a graduate of the University of Texas Law School and of the U. S. Naval Academy. Lea says he believes in strong checks on Federal controls. He is an attorney at law and a professional engineer.

• •

One of the most popular of the Big Six candidates in Comanche County seems to be Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth, who represents the 12th Congressional District, which until recently was composed of Parker and Tarrant Counties, but now consists only of Tarrant County. Parker County was transferred to our 17th District.

• •

Wright is 38 years of age and was mayor of Weatherford before moving to Fort Worth and being re-elected to the Congress twice without opposition. He attended Weatherford College and the University of Texas where he majored in government and economics. Wright is an elder and a lay-preacher in the Presbyterian Church, and when living in Weatherford supplied the Presbyterian Church at Granbury when that church was without a pastor. Wright, regarded as a "Moderate" Democrat, was active in the support of Kennedy and Johnson.

• •

William A. Blakley, 62, is now serving his second interim appointment as United States Senator. He was first appointed to that office by Governor Allan Shivers when Price Daniel resigned to become Governor of Texas. When Lyndon Johnson resigned from the Senate after he was elected vice president, Governor Daniel appointed Blakley to the post. Blakley accepted under the condition that he might become a candidate for that office if he desired. Daniel told him that was alright with him.

• •

Blakley, now considered one of the richest men in Texas, was born of poor parents in a tent in Missouri when the family was enroute to the Indian Territory to homestead a tract of land. Blakley never attended college but read law under some of the most brilliant lawyers in Texas and was admitted to the bar on examination. He is well read and has collected a fine private library. He made most of his money in oil, but now also has extensive land and ranch holdings.

• •

Blakley is married, but has no children. He says he is deeply interested in the youth of today and especially interested in better schools and colleges. A resident of Dallas, Blakley describes himself as "a Conservative Democrat who voted for Kennedy and Johnson."

• •

State Senator Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio is generally regarded as one of the Big Six who has a chance to get into the run-off. He stands well with the Labor Unions and is one of the strongest leaders in the State for integration in all forms in Texas and the U. S. He was active in the campaign for Kennedy and Johnson, and is generally credited with playing a big part in rolling up the huge majority for Kennedy in Bexar County.

• •

Gonzalez made a trip to El Paso last week and reported that he would carry that section of Texas. He appeared at a reception and on TV last Friday in Amarillo.

• •

Maury Maverick, Jr., also of San Antonio, is generally regarded as one of the Big Six in the race. He is endorsed by most of the Labor Unions in Texas, but has somewhat of a handicap in being in the same county with Gonzalez.

• •

Union spokesmen said Maverick and Tower, another candidate, had agreed to appear at the same political rally sponsored by the Brazoria County Labor groups at Freeport, and at other points in Texas.

• •

In most of his speeches. Maverick has endorsed President Kennedy's legislative programs, including aid to the elderly, to the depressed areas, and to education. He was a strong supporter of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

• •

John G. Tower, 35, of Wichita Falls, is the only admitted Republican in the race. He fell just short of receiving a million votes for the same office last November. Should he receive that many votes in this election, he undoubtedly would be elected. But, perhaps most Democrats who voted for Tower in the general election will vote for other candidates in the April 4 election.

• •

Tower is the son of a Methodist preacher, and is a graduate of Southwestern University of Georgetown and of S.M.U. of Dallas. He is a Sunday School teacher and a member of the Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church of Wichita Falls. He is married and teaches political science in Midwestern University, Wichita Falls.

• •

Attorney General Will Wilson of Dallas and Austin, is another o fthe Big Six, who is regarded as having a chance to get in the run-off, and if he does, he would stand a good chance of election since he has proved a popular vote getter in Texas. One drawback that might hinder Wilson in his race is that he already holds a State office and should he be elected, it would call for another state-wide special election.

CARD OF THANKS

I want everyone who was so kind to me in my hour of sadness to know the lovely things they sent to eat was appreciated more than words can express. The sweet ladies who cleaned my house and served dinner to the guests showed their love to me when I needed them most. All those sweet friends who sat up with Tom, I love and thank, and the Masons had such a sweet ceremony. I thank them all. May God bless and reward you when the hour should come to you when friends are needed most. God bless you all.—Pearl Moore. (1tp)

Two handicapped children from Comanche County will be sent to Camp Rex in Lamkin for the summer term with the help of the Easter Seal Society. The camp is operated by Miss Lee McGlothlin.

Easter Seal societies maintain imprtant national programs of research and education.

Russia is milking her Venus shot a little at a time in order to extract all possible propaganda value from this achievement. The Reds have harvested a little of the cream in a recent announcement that the "Venusnik" is traveling at the speed of 61,000 m.p.h. and when it passes closest to Venus on May 19 it will be 43.5 million miles from Earth. The Venusnik is supposed to report back to Russia some facts concerning the makeup of Venus but American scientists doubt contact can be made from that distance.

Doctors, an imposing array of them, gathered in London last week to block the Grim Reaper who was hovering at the bedside of lovely Elizabeth Taylor fighting for her life against double pneumonia. Miss Taylor, called by experts in feminine pulchritude, the most beautiful woman in the world, won her battle when she was pronounced out of danger after she had twice been on the edge of eternity and called back by modern methods of treatment.

The mighty new space engine of the X-15, at only two-thirds throttle, blasted that experimental plane to a new speed record in California recently of 2,900 m.p.h. The flight schedule calls for an increase of 330 m.p.h. with each future flight until the expected 4,000 figure is reached. Pilot Map. Bob White reached an altitude of 77,000 feet on this attempt and reported the plane operated perfectly. Information gleaned from this experimental plane will be useful in the construction of the B-70 now under development. This giant bomber will be the greatest tranquilizer the world's nations have ever seen in the air.

Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg reported last week the current unemployed figure at 5,700,-000, the highest in 20 years, yet he is quoted as expecting a rise in the economy of the nation with the coming of spring. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon made a like prediction. Since these people are in position to be better informed on current events and the Administration's plans to cope with the recession problem than the average person perhaps there are grounds for some optimism. Since it is now almost treason to think in negative terms where the economy is concerned, it seems, optimism, whether it is genume or not, might be the best policy.

People who question the Bible account of the origin of man now have new food for their thinking there may have been earlier inhabitants of the earth in the form of present day man. A popular magazine recently carried an account of a German named Kattwinkle who 50 years ago found in the wilds of Tanganyika a skeleton of a man believed to be 600,000 years old. In the same area the remains of a hog of immense size, a six-foot-tall sheep and a twelve-foot-tall bird were said to have been found. These ancient citizens were here, no question, but no man knows how many thousands of years the Creator counted as a day, or how many of these days transpired between Light and Adam and Eve.

The United Nations lost stature last week, not only in the Congo but all over the world, when well armed tribesmen captured the main U.N. supply ports of Matadi and Banana together with numerous U.N. prisoners. While the activities of this world organization for peace have been far from outstanding in Africa's Congo very few nations are ready to discard it.

Under Austin dateline a few days ago it was announced that in 1960 there were 11,390 deaths in Texas from cancer, 300 more than in 1959. Millions upon millions of dollars have been spent in the last few years in an effort to find a cure for this dreaded killer while many brilliant doctors and scietnists have devoted their time to the same end, still the death toll mounts. Some day there will be a break-through, the cure will be found and the finder will be the world's most loved person since the birth of Christ.

CHS Library Assistants Attend Meet

Four members of the Comanche High School Library Club, Kathy Arthur, Beverly Barret, Evelyn Blackwell, and Karen Patillo, attended the Texas Teen-Age Library Association Convention in San Antonio on February 23-25, at the Granana Hotel.

The theme of the convention was "Our Heritage—Key To The Future." A special program was given on this subject by Canyon High School student assistants. There were special workshops for T.A.L.A. delegates on program planning and publicity.

On Friday night, Feb. 24, following a dinner in the Grand Ball Room of the Granada, campaign speeches were given by prospective candidates.

Later in the evening the delegates had the privilege of hearing the Senior Class of Providence High School present "Lady Precious Stream," a four-act Chinese comedy.

The T.A.L.A. convention proved to be both interesting and informative.

Miss Dunn, High School Librarian and Club sponsor, and Mrs. W. J. Barret accompanied the girls to San Antonio.

30 Years Ago

FROM THE COMANCHE CHIEF, MARCH 20, 1931.

J. B. Cooper has been re-elected superintendent of the Proctor Schools. Mr. Cooper went to Proctor from Sidney at the beginning of the present session where he had served as superintendent for five years. A four year vocational agriculture department has been set up at Proctor with Mr. Cooper as director.

S. B. Culpepper has been re-elected as superintendent of the Comyn Schools. Other teachers re-elected are W. D. Graves, director of vocational agriculture; Mrs. C. S. Ross, Miss Nara G. Donaldson, Mrs. S. B. Culpepper, Misses Pearl and Ollie Sloan, Mollie and Jewell Grisham. The Comyn School is now recognized as one of the best in the county.

O. B. Rose, head of the Gustine Schools for the past three years, has been re-elected. He is also teacher of vocational agriculture, and during the summer supervises the boys in their farm projects. Last year Gustine was classified as a first class high school and granted 4 units of affiliation. 12 additional units have been applied for this year.

I. E. Allison has been re-elected superintendent of the Sidney Schools. He came to Sidney last pear from Lamkin. Miss Neva Neel, who was reared at Sidney and who has been teaching in Buckner Home in Dallas for several years, has been elected to a position in the Sidney Schools.

B. Ray McCorkle has been re-elected superintendent of the Beattie Schools, a position he has held for five years, coming to Beattie from Groesbeck where he was vocational agriculture teacher.

Goss D. Cobb, head of the Duster School for the past two years, has been re-elected. Seven teachers are employed at Duster and a full industrial program along with the literary work is being carried out under the direction of Mr. Cobb.

Briar Grove School closed Friday after a 4½ months session. The school was taught by Mrs. O. O. Irby.

The Mercer Gap School will close its 6 months term today, Friday, March 20. The school was taught by J. L. Smith and Mrs. Odessal Gober. Mr. Smith, who attended North Texas State College at Denton, before it was made a state school in 1903, is one of the better educated teachers of the county.

County Superintendent R. S. Walker said that with the exception of the two schools mentioned above, all the remaining schools in the county have an eight or nine months term, quite a contrast from a few years ago, when most of the 70 schools of the county had a term of less than 6 months and many of them had only one teacher.

Candidates for the City election in April are: C. M. Moore and Hill Huddleston for City Secretary; W. A. Pate, Jim C. Cunningham, W. C. Magness and A. G. Miller for City Marshal.

The interest in high school debates is running high in the county. By winning seven debates without a loss Missese Marion Lucille Donaho and Jo Gray, representing Comanche High School, won the right to meet the De Leon Girls, Misses Grace Smith and Lucille Key in the finals.

The Comanche High School boys, Monselle O'Brien and J. Frank Redwine, Jr. made the second best record, winning six out of seven debates in the pre-meet tournament and will meet the Comyn boys, Lee Hood and Blake Morrison, in the finals.

W. G. Barrett, superintendent f the Comanche Schools, was elected president of the Mid-Texas Teachers Association at Brownwood last Saturday. The next meeting will be held at San Angelo.

Miss Elsie Prater, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Prater of Comanche, was awarded a silver loving cup at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show on her pen of Rhode Island Reds, consisting of a cockerel and four young pullets.

Radio listeners may hear two Comanche girls each morning at nine o'clock over the Brownwood station. The girls are Miss Olene McKinzie, soloist, and Miss Lillian Walling, pianist, who are employed with the Deep Water Refining Company of Houston. The young ladies work in the Brownwood office of the company regularly, broadcasting being part of their daily work.

Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, it is estimated, is made available to Comanche County war veterans, under the recent bonus bill, passed over President Hoover's veto. It is estimated that there are 500 ex-soldiers in Comanche County and that the bonus will average about $500 to each soldier.

The Depression and hard times are driving many people back cities to the farms. During the past fall and winter several hundred farmers, many of whom formerly resided in Comanche County, have returned here to farm. Farm land, however, is so much in demand that it is hard to find any to rent.

It is said by those who know, that as a whole, the farmers of the county are in better condition than city dwellers, especially if they are farming in Comanche County; due to the fact that various kinds of crops are produced here and these diversified crops are paying off better than just straight cotton farming.

Lucky persons—on Sidney, Rt. 1—A. C. Jones, Lucille Jones, K. D. Jones and Mr. Langston, will receive a family pass to the Majestic Theatre on Friday night, March 27.

The Agriculture Class of Pettit High School plan to attend the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show Saturday, according to H. H. Lockridge, teacher, who said that the trip was included in his class laboratory work for the year.

Some people estimate that 100,000 fruit trees have been put out in Comanche County this spring. Probably the largest orchard put out is that of T. J. Williams, who will add between 700 and 1,000 trees to his present orchard.

Three Comanche County men are serving on the Federal grand jury in Fort Worth. They are W. F. Flat of Rucker, Allen Bibby of De Leon, and J. S. Jackson of Lamkin.

New Activity In Housing Loans

The farm housing loan program of the Farmers Home Administration is picking up new momentum, not only throughout the Nation, but here in Comanche County.

That's the word from Lee J. Bowers, county supervisor in charge of the agency's lending program here. He said this renewed farm housing loan activity follows the early February announcement that an additional $50 million is now available to the Farmers Home Administration for its 4 percent loans to farm owners to build or repair houses and essential farm buildings. Such a loan may extend over a 33-year period.

The new loan money broke up a log-jam of applications that were being held because funds had been exhausted. Nationwide, loans are now being processed at the rate of about $5 million a month but indications point to a probable doubling of that pace.

In this area, Bowers said he looks for the main demand to continue to be for loans for new construction, although farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, put in modern kitchens, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms, and other conveniences. Other uses include building, repairing, or moderinizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities, and other farm service buildings. Farm owners find much of this type of construction necessary to cope with changing agricultural conditions.

Bowers pointed out that by-products of this loan program include employment of carpenters and other skilled and unskilled labor, and increased business for concerns that handle building materials and equipment items.

Eligible to borrow are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use based on 1944 prices, but who cannot be adequately financed through other sources.

Bowers said $65,400 in loans have already been approved in Comanche County, and more applications are now being processed.
